Anti-Cocaine Law.

The New York Legislature passed the law making it a felony for any drug store to sell cocaine except upon the prescription of a physician. It is expected, of course, that Gov. Hughes will sign it.

KENTUCKY

State Law and Order League Organized at Louisville.

CAMPAIGN MAPPED OUT.

Pursuant to a call issued by Mayor C. E. Woods, of Richmond, Ky., and approved by the ministers of that city and others a meeting was held in Louisville on Monday night, Tuesday and Tuesday night, May 13, 14, 1907.

Invitations had been sent to many men throughout Kentucky. The opening conference was held at the Willard Hotel, presided over by Mayor Woods. Several short speeches were made explaining object of meeting and present conditions. Mayor Woods was elected chairman during the convention. Sessions were held on Tuesday forenoon, afternoon and evening at Masonic Temple theatre. An orchestra of 4 women and 2 boys furnished music. The attendance was small. Interesting speeches were made. Without attempting a complete history of the call, addresses, etc., we will give only a few items that our readers may be informed of an organization which is destined to accomplish much for Kentucky in a higher citizenship, especially along lines of law enforcement.

Mt. Sterling was represented by Robert M. and Bruce W. Trimble, who of their own accord were pleased to attend. The writer wishes to keep in touch with some of the movements which make for Kentucky's progress.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Every good citizen will keep the law and every good citizen should help to enforce the law. Indifference and neglect in law enforcement are truly reprehensible, because they are often responsible for the violation of the law.

The great need of the State is a compact and united organization that will have for its object the following work:

First—Information of the people as to the law regarding crime.

Second—By using the pulpit, the press, public discussions and other available means to inculcate in the people the duty of every good citizen, to take part in the enforcement of the law by the selection of officials who will enforce the law, by standing behind and encouraging faithful officials, by giving information of criminal offenses, by being willing to serve on juries, and by aiding in an organized and systematic effort to suppress the violation of any law in their communities.

Third—The amendment of defects in existing laws so as to render their enforcement more efficient, and the enactment of such new laws as may be deemed necessary.

TO ATTAIN END DESIRED.

To accomplish these objects we recommend the following: The organization of a State Law and Order League with the usual officers and an executive committee composed of the officers of the League and one member from each congressional district of the State, and that committee shall provide for the following:

1. A competent legal committee that shall collate and compare in brief form for dissemination, the laws of the State, bearing on such offenses as need consideration.

2. To secure the co-operation of the press of the State in giving editorial indorsement of the united effort for law enforcement and in using their columns for dissemination of needful and wholesome information.

3. To provide for the organization of a league in each county of the State and to encourage and stimulate those leagues to vigorous local enforcement of the law.

4. To bring before the Legislature such measures as are deemed necessary for efficient enforcement of the law.

5. To issue an address to the people of the State setting forth the purpose and plans of the league and to invite all good citizens regardless of creed, political affiliation or race to join in this effort.

6. To provide through the Legal Committee the course of procedure in suppressing vice and crime and to give this information to the local leagues.

ORGANIZATION NONPARTISAN.

Be it

Resolved by this convention, That this organization is absolutely nonpartisan and has for its sole object the better enforcement of all our laws. We will heartily commend any official, regardless of party affiliation, who fearlessly and honestly seeks to do his duty. We indorse any and all political parties in their platform, utterances and in the party administration who seek thereby to give us a righteous and wholesome enforcement of law, and we will co-operate with all organizations that have for their purpose the enforcement of any and all laws of the State.

We desire to commend many faithful, honest and fearless executive, judicial and police officials over the State who have come out so boldly and successfully for law enforcement.

We return our thanks to the press of Louisville and the entire State for its hearty and helpful indorsement of this movement, and look to it as a powerful agency in accomplishing the work proposed.

We desire to bear testimony to the good work already done by a certain class of newspapers throughout the State edited by men of a deep sense of civic duty who have been nobly discharging that obligation.

We also ask the pulpit of the State to continue its splendid work in forceful and telling utterances upon all questions involving public conscience and individual duty. With a desire to honor the State we love and to stand in the forefront of all that constitutes a law loving, law abiding and progressive citizenship we invite all who indorse such a motive to join in this unselfish, non-partisan and patriotic effort for the maintenance of the majesty and efficiency of the law.

WANTS PRESS ENLISTED.

Addresses were made at the evening session by the Revs. E. L. Powell and W. B. Beauchamp, of Louisville. Dr. Powell touched upon the importance of circulating wholesome literature bearing upon the evils it was desired to correct, throughout the State—in other words to conduct a comprehensive educational campaign among Kentucky's citizens. He said that he considered the press the most powerful agent in effecting anything that was worth while. It is more powerful than pulpit or platform as a sentiment-maker and an effort should be made to enlist the press of Kentucky in the great work.

If that were done a sentiment for law and order would be created that would sweep everything before it. Civic indifference, he asserted, was the only way in which he could explain the nonenforcement of law. The work of the league, continued Dr. Powell, should be undertaken step by step. First there should be information, then inspiration, then organization, to be followed by realization.

CIVIC RIGHTEOUSNESS.

Dr. Beauchamp declared that a mighty force was making for civic righteousness all over the country, particularly in the Southland. If ten years ago it had been said that Virginia, Tennessee, Georgia, Texas and Kentucky, would be largely controlled by the temperance forces, not a well-posted man in any of those States would have believed it. He spoke of the wonderful progress which the Anti-Saloon League had made in Kentucky, and shared the opinion that henceforth any man who seeks a large public office in Kentucky would assuredly consult the temperance forces before doing so. The newspapers, he said, had shown a different attitude in recent years to the temperance question, all of which augured encouragement for the law and order movement.
